

ENERGY FROM WASTE

Objekte, Modelllandschaften, Fotografien

A sculpture titled "KLUGSCHEISSER" (German for "wise shit") is displayed against a light green background with vertical lines. The sculpture is constructed from various waste materials, including crumpled paper, cardboard, and a metal hook. It is mounted on a wooden ladder-like structure. A thin metal rod extends from the top of the sculpture, passing through a rectangular piece of cardboard that has the word "KLUGSCHEISSER" printed on it in a typewriter font. The sculpture itself is a complex, abstract form that appears to be a figure or object made of discarded materials, with a metal hook attached to its lower part.
